Academic Policy

Graduate Business Program Policies and Procedures

University graduate students are subject to the University general policies and procedures for all graduate programs as outlined in the graduate catalog. (See general policies/procedures section.) Students matriculated in graduate business programs are subject to the policies and any prerequisites required for BA500 and BA600 level courses. See course descriptions for prerequisites. The following graduate business policies are mandatory and part of the general policy and procedures of graduate programs.

- Students must maintain a “B” or better to remain in good academic standing.
- Students must be in good academic standing (3.0) and have completed four courses within the program to be eligible for international travel.
- Students must complete all degree requirements including international travel experiences prior to enrollment in capstone course, BA695 Global Strategic Management.
- Students must earn a “B” or better in the capstone course, BA695 Global Strategic Management.

MBA Student Policy Handbook

Each student is responsible for being thoroughly familiar with all policies and procedures outlined in the MBA Student Policy Handbook. Policies and procedures for students in graduate business programs are devised to safeguard the integrity of the degree or certificate granted, to facilitate the student's progress toward the degree, and to prevent delays and misunderstandings.

Conditional Admittance

A student who is admitted conditionally is closely monitored by the program administration. In addition to fulfilling the program-specific requirements, they must successfully complete two business fundamental courses—BA500 and BA502—prior to the commencement of the first core MBA course for a particular cohort. The program administration reserves the right to recommend and/or require additional coursework in accounting, economics, finance and quantitative analysis where an applicant's background is deemed insufficient in these core business foundations.

Expenses

The Arcadia MBA program is an excellent investment, and financing options are available to all enrolled students. Tuition fees for the MBA with a Global Perspective and the MBA with a Global Business Diplomacy concentration are determined by the semester of entry, remain fixed for all future semesters of continuous enrollment, and are billed in installments. See each program overview for specific expense details.

Miscellaneous Fees:

Parking: There is no charge for parking after 4 p.m. A hangtag is required for all vehicles to park in the designated lots. Students may obtain a hangtag after bringing their vehicle registration card to the Public Safety Office. Parking is available at any location designated as Student Parking.

Overview of MBA with a Global Perspective

Arcadia's MBA is a leadership development program focused on enabling students to:

- Analyze emerging global trends affecting business today.
- Collaborate across borders to utilize resources successfully on a global basis to achieve organizational goals.
- Apply technology to improve areas such as management information, communication and productivity.
- Improve skills associated with data gathering, analysis and evaluation in order to devise and implement more effective strategic plans.

- Lead organizations in achieving their goals and objectives through effective delegating, team-building, and motivating practices.
- Integrate cultural awareness and diversity in implementing ethical decisions.

Students complete two one-week international experiences, one in an emerging economy and one in a developed economy. Comparing and contrasting the two experiences takes place in the Global Strategic Management capstone course (BA695) at the end of the program.

Arcadia's MBA program educates students about the latest management decision-making tools and techniques to ensure business success. Students are exposed to cutting-edge industry best practices and techniques in key business areas.

The program engages students in developing an awareness of the impact business decisions have on society. Students will be able to incorporate this gained knowledge to ensure their organization's plans will offer a high degree of sustainability within a balanced ethical framework.

Students will develop team building and communication skills in preparation for leadership roles in the business community through case studies, team-based projects, and international travel.

Graduates of the Arcadia MBA program will be able to utilize the knowledge and skills acquired to devise effective strategies and objectives for their organizations. They will be equipped with leadership and technical skills enabling them to manage teams of individuals in achieving their desired results. Arcadia's graduates will develop knowledge and leadership skills to advance their organizations and careers in an effective and responsible fashion.

MBA On Campus: The MBA with a Global Perspective is offered one night a week on campus. Arcadia Graduate Certificates in Business are offered partially online.

Expenses for MBA with a Global Perspective: For the 2012-2013 academic year, the tuition for the MBA with a Global Perspective (30-36 credits) is $38,340, which includes two one-week international travel experiences. The two international experiences are a requirement of the MBA with a Global Perspective program. Travel fees are included in the cost of the program tuition.

The travel expenses that are provided through tuition to the student include group international airfare, air taxes and fuel surcharges, group airport transfers in the destination city, double occupancy accommodations, group transportation for all activities listed in the itinerary, meals as noted in the itinerary, admission and entrance fees for cultural excursions listed on the itinerary, and student supplemental health insurance with EIIA during the travel period. Incidental expenses associated with travel that are not covered by the tuition are the responsibility of the student.

Expenses for Concentrations: For the 2012-2013 academic year, the tuition for courses only in concentration areas (9 credits per area) of Entrepreneurship, Finance and Leadership is billed at the current part-time graduate rate, $695 per credit.

Expenses for MBA with a Global Business Diplomacy Concentration: For the 2012-2013 academic year, the tuition for the MBA with a Global Business Diplomacy concentration (39-45 credits) is $47,925, which includes three international travel experiences. Two international experiences are a requirement in the MBA program. Students will travel twice with their program cohort as designated by their program plan and once to Costa Rica in the semester the student is enrolled with the University for Peace. Travel fees are included in the cost of the program as noted: The travel expenses that are provided through tuition to the student include group international airfare, air taxes and fuel surcharges, group airport transfers in the destination city, double occupancy accommodations, group transportation for all activities listed in the itinerary, meals as noted in the itinerary, admission and entrance fees for cultural excursions listed on the itinerary, and student health insurance with EIIA during the travel period. Overview of the International MBA Program (IMBA) in Paris, France

Arcadia's IMBA is offered as a one-year program in partnership with the American Graduate School of Business and Economics (AGSBE). The program is taught in Paris, in English, and accredited in the United States as an affiliated program of Arcadia University.

The Arcadia IMBA at the American Graduate School of Business and Economics in Paris features five key components to prepare students for successful careers in business, government, or international organizations.

There is an international business experience built into the curriculum of the IMBA program in France. Students have the option of studying in France or another country.

The Arcadia IMBA at AGSBE in Paris focuses on the challenges of the current international marketplace:

- It addresses the most contemporaneous questions posed by globalization.
- It prepares students to act in and interact with multi-cultural environments.

The program is geared toward career building:

- It adopts a hands-on approach, including visits and meetings with executives of the most successful international corporations.
- It teaches the best and most recent techniques of management, planning and decision-making, and studies major international corporations as illustrative models.

The IMBA in Paris teaches responsible decision-making:

- It sensitizes students to the challenges of sustainable development, social solidarity and ethical business.

The program takes advantage of its location in Paris, at the heart of the European Union:

- E.U. and OECD economists and business policymakers participate in

Business (MBA) at Arcadia University

- the program as teachers and guest speakers.
- Students have the opportunity to go on optional visits to the E.U. Commission in Brussels and the OECD in Paris, and meet with delegates and staff.
 - The European setting of the program makes it possible for students to better apprehend the notion of Europe as a political, economic and social entity.

Expenses for International MBA (IMBA) in Paris, France

Tuition and travel costs for the IMBA in Paris, France, are paid directly to the partner institution (AGSBE). Please see www.ags.edu for current fees.

Overview of the International MBA (IMBA) Program in Singapore, Republic of Singapore

Arcadia's IMBA is offered as a one-year program in partnership with the Aventis School of Management in Singapore. Aventis School of Management is a leading graduate school that is an affiliated member of the European Foundation for Management Development (EFMD) and European Council for Business Education (ECBE). The program is taught in Singapore, in English, and is accredited in the United States as an affiliated program of Arcadia University.

The program educates students about the latest management decision-making tools and techniques to ensure business success. Students are exposed to cutting-edge industry best practices and techniques in key business areas. The program engages students in developing an awareness of the impact business decisions have on society.

Students will be able to incorporate this gained knowledge to ensure their organization's plans will offer a high degree of sustainability within a balanced ethical framework. Tuition and travel costs for the IMBA in Singapore are paid directly to the partner institution (Aventis School of Management). Please see www.aventis.edu.sg for current fees.

Admission to the MBA Program, IMBA and Graduate Certificates

In addition to the general admission requirements, the following program-specific requirements must be met for admission to the MBA and IMBA programs and Arcadia Graduate Certificates:

1. An MBA/Graduate certificate application, including personal statements, to be completed online at www.arcadia.edu/gradapp. IMBA applicants for Paris, France complete online through AGSBE. IMBA applicants for Singapore, Republic of Singapore, complete online through Aventis.
2. A bachelor's degree from an accredited institution with a recommended GPA of 3.0 or better. Transcripts should reflect evidence of completion of accounting, finance and economics courses with a grade of B or better. Students lacking accounting, economics or finance coursework may be admitted conditionally to the program. Conditionally admitted students must complete two business fundamental courses prior to beginning the first core MBA/IMBA course.
3. An official transcript from each college, university or professional school attended. Transfer credits included on a transcript must include grades earned; if not, an official transcript from the original school must be submitted. Transcripts must be sent from the issuing school in a sealed envelope and contain the appropriate signatures and seals to be considered official.

4. Two professional letters of recommendation. If the student has been out of school five years or less, at least one letter must come from a professor.
5. A minimum of three years of work experience. Applicants with exceptional undergraduate records with less work experience may be considered.
6. A current professional résumé.
7. Applicants for the MBA with a Global Perspective program are required to submit a signed Statement of Intent to Study Abroad form, which is included with the application for admission.
8. International applicants should visit www.arcadia.edu/international for detailed information on admissions requirements and application procedures. Official results from the TOEFL (minimum score of: 550 on the paper-based test, 213 on the computer-based test or 80 on the new Internet-based test) or IELTS (minimum score of 6.5) or ITEP (minimum score of 5.0) are required for all students for whom English is a second language except for non-native speakers of English who hold degrees or diplomas from post-secondary institutions in English-speaking countries (e.g. the United States, Canada, England, Ireland, Australia, and New Zealand). A course-by-course evaluation of all transcripts by an independent evaluation service based in the United States also is required.

All of the above information must be submitted by an applicant in order to be considered for acceptance.

Application Deadline: Application materials will be reviewed throughout the year. Semester start dates for the MBA program will be the fall and spring semesters of each academic year.

Deferred Admission: An accepted student who wants to defer his or her admission for one year must submit a request in writing to the Dean's Office. Deferrals will be considered on a case-by-case basis. Once a deferral is granted, the student must submit the required deposit to reserve a seat in the class. This deposit will be credited toward tuition. A student who is granted a deferral must understand that he or she will be subject to the prevailing tuition at the time of matriculation to the program.

About the MBA with a Global Perspective Degree Program

The MBA curriculum is delivered using a cohort model. Students take accelerated seven-week courses over a 19-22-month period. On-campus courses meet 4.5 hours per week for a total of 31.5 contact hours. Out-of-class readings, assignments, research, projects, group work, etc. will require a minimum of 10 to 20 hours per week. Courses utilize a variety of delivery techniques such as textbooks, case studies, individual/group projects, experiential exercises and guest speakers.

Embedded in the program are two one-week international travel experiences. These will be credit-bearing offerings (2 credits) enabling students to gain firsthand knowledge of the challenges of global businesses in both a developing and a developed economy. Students complete the MBA program with the final course, Global Strategic Management.

Students also may choose to select a business area of concentration within the MBA with a Global Perspective. These areas include Entrepreneurship, Finance and Leadership. Students who pursue an area of concentration complete a 36-45 -credit degree program that includes three additional courses (9 credits) in the chosen business area concentration. The concentration courses are offered in a fully online seven-week accelerated format and can be taken concurrently with the students' planned program.

About the MBA with a Global Business Diplomacy Concentration Degree Program

Offered in collaboration with Arcadia's International Peace and Conflict Resolution program and the University for Peace in Costa Rica, the MBA in Global Business Diplomacy allows MBA students to combine peace studies with an examination of the global business environment. This program goes well beyond the concepts of peace studies and human rights by incorporating fieldwork and problem-based learning focused on conflict resolution and sustainable development.

Similar to the MBA with a Global Perspective, students travel internationally. Students enrolled in the Global Business Diplomacy concentration complete an additional international experience for a total of three experiences. One of these is to Costa Rica, which occurs during the semester in which students study with the University for Peace.

Entrepreneurship in the Social Sector

The worlds of "working for the betterment of society" and "private enterprise" often are seen as incompatible. This course attempts to break down that perception in order for participants to see the social sector as a place of opportunity, both to "do good" but also to innovate and build a financially sustainable social enterprise, whether nonprofit, for-profit, or some combination of the two. The course suggests that the skills to get a socially beneficial idea off the ground, effectively manage and grow it, and make it financially sustainable require social entrepreneurs to bring business-like skills and discipline to the area of "doing good," but these skills in fact cross the traditional boundaries between nonprofits and for-profits.

This course exposes participants to a number of cases of social entrepreneurs who have converted their desire of building a better world into a reality. The course hopes to inspire participants with an entrepreneurial spirit, to help students gain an understanding of the challenges of the start-up process, to offer space and structure for participants to begin developing their own business plan for a socially beneficial venture, and to help students to think about the complexities of growing and managing it.

Negotiation and Conflict Resolution

This course is an introductory skill-building course in negotiation, conflict management and resolution. Participants learn to improve their own negotiation skills, helping them to act consciously and skillfully in tough situations. This introduction also helps participants to understand how negotiations fall apart and how conflict forms. The course explores the spectrum of third-party intervention methods, showing how these processes are implemented and institutionalized on the interpersonal level as well as in the international sphere. The course explores the difference between processes in which parties surrender their decision-making autonomy to a third-party and those in which they retain this power and the third-party must find ways to assist them to exercise it on their own. The course also looks at mediation, in which a third-party, lacking decision-imposing power, uses his negotiation expertise, his creativity and his relationship with the parties, in order to aid them in reaching agreement and transforming their relationship. By understanding the design and management methods of the mediation process, participants will be able to bring their improved negotiation skills to bear in assisting others to negotiate and resolve conflicts peacefully.

Prerequisites: Students must be matriculated into a graduate business program. Students who are matriculated into the certificate program must have completed IP 501, IP 505/approved elective, and BA 530.
